

Communications Specialist (9 months maternity leave cover)

At Cuscal we are driven by our purpose to make payments easy, accessible and secure. We are Australia's leading independent provider of payment solutions including cards (credit, debit and prepaid), mobile payments, ATMs, fraud prevention, ATMs and electronic funds transactions (EFT).

We play an important and growing role in Australia's financial services industry as a strong and independent payments provider helping our existing clients (over 100) grow and assisting new companies to enter the Australian market. We deliver on promises through our unique partnering approach, delivering great service and superior financial results that start with our people, values and culture.

In the rapidly evolving payments industry, we look to our values of partnership, energy and reliability to guide the way we work, both with our clients and each other.

We seek an energetic and knowledgeable person who is curious and collaborative by nature to join an innovative, dynamic and challenging environment. Your focus will be the development and implementation of all internal and external/corporate communications and projects aligned to business needs and the Cuscal brand. Key to this is building engagement and advocacy amongst relevant stakeholders including: People & Culture, employees, clients, and other industry influencers.

We seek a reliable and energetic individual who can partner well with others and has demonstrated skills and experience in:

- Communications, preferably within Financial Services
- Developing and driving internal communications programs designed to increase employee engagement
- Copy writing & editing
- Content development
- Project management
- Change management

At Cuscal, our goal is that you feel you are part of something much more than just a workplace. Because we know that it's the people that really make a difference – people like you. We want to inspire your passion for work so we offer new training and development programs, a comprehensive benefits program, some really great social events and a rewards and recognition system as a thank you.

To apply for this role please email careers@cuscal.com.au.

The successful applicant will need to hold a valid visa with work rights and gain satisfactory outcomes from Employment Screening including an Australian Federal Police and qualifications check.
